Aircraft Specification Hispano HA-1112 Buchon PROJECT

The Buchon type first flew from Seville, Spain in 1945. In May 1951, an armed, 3 bladed version went into service with a two-place tandem training aircraft following thereafter.

The final variant of the type was a "-M1L" which first flew in March 1954, This model carried two 22 mm cannons and two eight-packs of 80 mm rockets. The -M1L remained in service until late December 1965.

This Buchon Project offers a fantastic opportunity to become part of the journey returning it to flight. The Buchon is a hugely popular aircraft on the air show display circuit and this aircraft adds extra glamour with it having appeared in the famous movie the Battle of Britain. A truly iconic looking aircraft that is available to purchase now "as is" or as a completely restored aircraft.
